

Photovoltaic Applications

Metal materials for solar photovoltaic systems.

Solar photovoltaic systems require high-performance metal materials for electrical connections and support structures. This whitepaper explores the properties of various metal materials for photovoltaic applications.